International Virginia Woolf Society
Bibliography of Woolf Studies Published in 2010
(includes addenda for previous years)

Compiled by Kathryn Klein and Celia Marshik, SUNY Stony Brook

Please send additions to Kristin Czarnecki, IVWS Historian/Bibliographer
kristin_czarnecki@georgetowncollege.edu

BOOKS

ARTICLES, BOOK CHAPTERS, & NOTES

de Gay, Jane and Marion Dell. Introduction. de Gay and Dell, Voyages Out, Voyages Home vi-x.

---. “‘When dogs will become men’: Melancholia, Canine Allegories, and Theriocephalous Figures in Woolf ‘s Urban Contact Zones.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 180-190. Print.

Hindrichs, Cheryl. “‘Find Our Own Way for Ourselves’: Orlando as an Uncommon Reader in the Critical Theory Classroom.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 195-204. Print.

Hite, Molly. “‘How Strange’: Affective and Evaluative Uncertainty in Mrs. Dalloway.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 95-104. Print.

Jones, Christine Kenyon, and Anna Snaith. “‘Tilting at Universities’: Woolf at King’s College London.” Woolf Studies Annual 16 (2010): 1-44. Print.
Leavenworth, Maria Lindgren. “‘A Life as Potent and Dangerous as Literature Itself’: Intermediated Moves from Mrs. Dalloway to The Hours.” Journal of Popular Culture 43.3 (2010): 503-523. Print.

---. “To Write is Always to Rave a Little’: the Hallucinatory Point of View in Elizabeth Bowen’s and Virginia Woolf’s Writing.” Consciousness, Literature and the Arts 11.2 (2010). Web.

Sabatini, Federico. “‘Dark pours over the outlines of houses and towers’: Virginia Woolf’s Prismatic Poetics of Space.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 77-88. Print.

Saloman, Randi. “[D]irectly a box was unpacked the rooms became very different’: Hotel Life and The Voyage Out.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 167-73. Print.

Simpson, Kathryn. “‘Street Haunting,’ Commodity Culture, and the Woman Artist.” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 47-55. Print.

Sizemore, Christine W. “Cosmopolitanism From Below in Mrs. Dalloway and ‘Street Haunting.’” Evans and Cornish, Woolf and the City 104-112. Print.

REVIEWS

DISSERTATIONS AND THESSES

CREATIVE WORKS INSPIRED BY WOOLF

TEXTS BY WOOLF AND CONTEMPORARIES

ADDENDA (2009)

BOOKS

ARTICLES, BOOK CHAPTERS, & NOTES
DISSERTATIONS

ADDENDA (2006)

ADDENDA (2005)