Registration Deadline – October 14th, 2012

This event will address the following questions:

- What spiritual, psychological and emotional work is required to make the transition from 'active ministry' into retirement?
- How do the roles and responsibilities of 'active ministry' differ from vocation to ministry?
- How may our spiritual and vocational experiences of life shape this next stage of our lives?
- How do we discover our 'greater work', by which we may continue to live out our vocation to Christian ministry?
- What possibilities and potential do the retirement years hold?

Learning activities will include small and large group discussions, worship, personal reflection, body movement, imagery exercises, journaling and music.

Mary Helen Garvin is a former nurse and missionary to Taiwan and worked as a psychotherapist for 20 years before retiring in August 2003. She has also worked as a transition consultant, a workshop leader, and on the staff of the Toronto Institute for Human Relations. A life-long member of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, she has served as an elder and on Theological Guidance Conference teams.

Peter Scott was born and raised on a farm near Leamington. A graduate of the University of Western Ontario, Peter went on to pursue his Master of Divinity at Emmanuel College. He was ordained by the United Church of Canada in 1972. Peter has served in pastoral ministry for 20 years and was Executive Secretary of the London Conference of the UCC for 14 years. He retired in May 2006.
