

Ahneen! Sago! Tansi! Quai!

Bienvenue! Welcome!

Centre for Health Promotion
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

The Centre For Health Promotion at the UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO announces

Ontario Health Promotion Summer School 2007

THEME : MENTAL HEALTH PROMOTION

The key to Mental Health Promotion is to work as far "upstream" as possible and to work at the level of settings more than individuals. Mental health promotion can occur in many different settings – parenting classes, schools, workplaces, communities and health care institutions. Health promotion strategies such as creating supportive environments, strengthening community action, building healthy policies, developing personal skills, and reorienting health services are all key to promoting mental health in any setting. Intersectoral linkages, partnerships, collective action and behaviour change are all part of effective public health actions to promote mental health.

Join us for an interactive learning experience with multiple perspectives fostering dialogue, collaboration and innovative solutions to current challenges.

WHEN:

Monday, June 25 – Wednesday, June 27, 2007

PRESCHOOL: Sunday, June 24 (optional)

Participants at the Summer School can also participate in a rich Aboriginal and Francophone curriculum.

WHERE:

Crowne Plaza Toronto Don Valley Hotel
(courses and accommodation)

REGISTRATION FEES:

Early Bird Registration - $475 (April 30)

Standard Registration - $525 (May 1)

(Accommodation and Preschool: additional fees)

Registration fees may be covered for nurses by the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario (RNAO).

REGISTRATION:

On-line, by fax or by mail

A wide range of lectures, applied workshops, networking opportunities and recreational and cultural events offered will engage health practitioners, policy-makers and managers.

WHY ATTEND?

- increase knowledge and skills in the core competency areas of health promotion
- increase capacity and deepen learning through the application of theory to practice
- experience a learning environment that uses a holistic approach to adult education principles
- increase personal and professional networks across diverse cultures and communities
- deepen and rejuvenate professional commitment

WHO ATTENDS SUMMER SCHOOL?

HPSS is designed for those who are new to the field and for those who bring years of experience - from front-line workers to managers! Learn and network with:

- Health Promoters
- Community Workers
- Social Workers
- Project Coordinators and Managers
- Health Professionals
- Funders and Policy-Makers
- Students, Scholars and Educators
- Public Health Practitioners

To register or for more information, visit: www.utoronto.ca/chp/hpss or contact Lisa Weintraub at 416-469-4632 or hpss@rogers.com.

The Ontario Health Promotion Summer School is sponsored annually in partnership with Aboriginal and Francophone service organizations. Funding is provided by the Ontario Ministry of Health Promotion - Health Promotion and Wellness, Ontario Ministry of Health & Long Term Care - Aboriginal Health Unit, Aboriginal Healing and Wellness Strategy and Canadian Heritage.