#253, Course C - The Secret World of Espionage

Lecturer: Dr. Olivier Courtois is an accomplished lecturer, historian and author. Dr. Courtois received his Doctorate in History from the University of Paris-Sorbonne and was a faculty member at Royal Military College and at Ryerson University. He is a frequent lecturer for several later life learning programs in Toronto, including those at Gladon College and Ryerson University.

The dawn of cyber warfare, often associated with the threat of terrorism and with foreign interference in national elections, has challenged global intelligence communities. But espionage is nothing new. A tactic of ancient civilizations, it rose to prominence under Queen Elizabeth I and played a central role in the American War of Independence, the Napoleonic Wars and the First and Second World War. The nation’s “golden age” was drawn in 1991 with the end of the Cold War… but did another one open? Welcome to the shadowy world of covert operations!
