The TBT is not over!!! The 2-year follow-up is still ongoing.

(A complete list of the centres participating appears on the other side of this page.)

Did you know?

When we indicate that a neurodevelopmental exam is needed for one of the children in the 2-year follow-up it is very important that this is done. In some situations when the ASQ is done outside the proper time window the ASQ alone is not a valid measurement of the child's development. Without the neurodevelopmental exam this case will be considered 'lost to follow-up'. Do not let this happen to any of your cases.

Some co-ordinators have indicated difficulties encouraging parents to bring in their children for neurodevelopmental assessments if the ASQ is abnormal. Here are some suggestions that might help:

- remind the parents that if there is a problem with the child that earlier diagnosis would result in earlier treatment which may in turn result in better outcomes for the child;
- contact the family physician or the primary care giver to contact the parent for the assessment;
- emphasise that the complete 2-year assessment is one of the benefits for the parents and their child that comes from participating in the Term Breech Trial.

3 MONTH PPQ

The analysis of the data from the 3-month PPQ is proceeding. We received 1597 questionnaires from the 110 centres participating in the 3-month follow-up. (See page 2 for a listing of these centres.) This is a completion rate of 92.9%. This is wonderful and is a credit to all of you who worked so hard to find all these women. We will keep you posted as to when the results from this questionnaire data will be available.

On the arrival of this new year,
we send our very warmest wishes to you all for peace and joy.
