Centres Ready to Recruit...

We are pleased to announce that six more centres have now joined our numbers as active centres, ready to recruit!

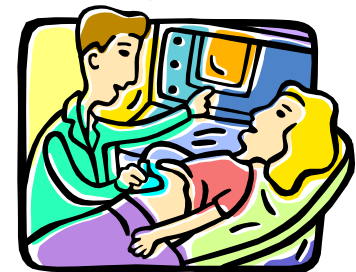

Congratulations to Dr Gustavo Malinger and Ms Zvia Hiaeb at Edith Wolfson Medical Center in Israel; Dr Mazen Y El-Zibdeh and Dr Lama Al-Faris at the Islamic Hospital in Jordan; Dr

Frans Roumen at the Atrium Medical Centre in the Netherlands; Dr Janet I Andrews at the University of Iowa in the USA; Prof Kassam Mahomed and Dr David Gibson at Toowoomba Base Hospital in Australia; and Dr Alonso J Rioseco and Dr Enrique Oyarzun at Universidad Catolica in Chile for continuing to move the study ahead!

Identifying Breech Babies - Some Strategies

Dr Marie-France Delisle has recruited 3 women since late December. She shared with us her strategy for identifying women with babies in breech presentation as they approach 33 weeks gestation.

So far she has used two basic approaches – the first is “word of mouth”, telling all of her obstetrical colleagues that perform ECV about the study. The other strategy is to have the booking clerk call her when a non-study ECV is being booked. That way Dr Delisle can speak to the obstetricians performing that EVC about the study, so that they have it mind for their future patients that fall within the eligibility criteria. So far it seems to be working! Thank you Dr Delisle for your dedication and enthusiasm!

WELCOME!

We are pleased to announce that Sarah Edwards has joined us as the EECV2 Coordinator in the Data Coordinating Centre at MIRU. We look forward to her contribution and support on the trial. Welcome aboard Sarah!

Just a note...

We are always very excited to receive your Clinical Study Agreements! Please make sure to include two copies of the Clinical Study Agreement with original signatures.

Also please send us an e-mail or a fax, when you sent notices of ethics approval, signed Clinical Study Agreements or any other important documentation. This way we can be on the look-out for it, and track it right away if it doesn't arrive promptly.
