SUMMER INSTITUTE in PAIN

THE BRAIN BEHIND THE PAIN:
from neural encoding to the patient experience

MASSEY COLLEGE
University of Toronto
Toronto, Canada
JULY 13-17 2020
The Toronto Summer Institute in Pain is a 5-day, high intensity pain training program. It provides opportunities for trainees to interface with researchers, clinicians, educators and pain patients through a series of lectures, panel discussions, small group work, and interactive workshops. It culminates in a 1-day scientific meeting. The program is organized around a different central theme each year and is attended by 30 national and international graduate students, post doctoral fellows, and clinical trainees.

The Institute aims to:

▶ Foster research excellence and interprofessional collaboration
▶ Provide a stimulating environment for research training; and ▶ Develop a base of high-quality researchers, who will know how to translate their research outcomes into improved pain relief worldwide
