

For those interested in pain medicine, clinical practice, and pain education:

The U of T Pain Medicine Residence Program is partnering with the UTCSP to open the educational didactic components of its curriculum for participation by UTCSP trainees interested in learning more about clinical pain management. These lectures are hosted by leading pain clinicians across Toronto and are designed to prepare the Pain Fellows to become leading Pain Medicine Specialists.

Access for UTCSP trainees is an opportunity to increase:

1. KNOWLEDGE of the current clinical pain assessment and management approaches.
2. AWARENESS of the clinical landscape and advances in pain medicine.
3. UNDERSTANDING of the challenges faced by clinicians in treating patients with complex pain problems.

Other benefits of participating in the program include the opportunities to strengthen the network of UTCSP research trainees which may lead to shared ideas and future research collaborations.

TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT

A UTCSP trainee membership is open to students, at all levels, who are associated with a regular member. Regular members are individuals who have an appointment/affiliation at the University of Toronto in any faculty and/or University of Toronto affiliated teaching hospitals.

These lectures are a required component of the Pain Medicine Residency curriculum. As a trainee member of the UTCSP, you are welcome to have access to these lectures to enhance your own learning. Participation in this program is a privilege. You are attending as a representative of the UTCSP.
