

Neil Bradford

Neil Bradford is currently Associate Professor of Political Science at Huron University College, University of Western Ontario. He is the author of Commissioning Ideas: Canadian National Policy Innovation in Comparative Perspective (Oxford, 1999), and of numerous chapters and articles in the fields of political economy, public policy, and regional economic development. He is a Research Partner in the Ontario Network on Regional Innovation Systems and holds a Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) grant to study economic innovation and community politics in Canadian city-regions. Prior to his academic appointment, he was a policy advisor to the Ontario government, serving the Ministry of Labour and the Premier's Council.

