

Authors

Tatyana Avtukhovich, DSc, Professor, is Head of the Chair of Russian Philology at Yanka Kupala State University of Grodno (Belarus). Her field of research interest are theoretical and historical poetics, anthropology of literature, and history of 18th and 20th c. Russian literature. She authored 235 scholarly works, among them the monographs Поэзия риторики: Очерки теоретической и исторической поэтики (Minsk, 2005), Риторика. Жизнь. Литература: Исследования по истории русской литературы XVIII века (Minsk, 2015), “Шаг в сторону от собственного тела...”: Экфрасисы Иосифа Бродского (Siedlce, 2016). She edited the scholarly edition of the popular 18th c. anonymous novel *Несчастный Никанор, или Приключение жизни российского дворянина Н, issued in 2016 by Nauka publishing house in its series “Literaturnye pamyatniki”.
E-mail: t.avtuh@grsu.by

Nina Barkovskaya, DSc in Philology (doktor filologicheskikh nauk), Professor of the Department of Literature and Methods of its Teaching of the Ural State Pedagogical University (Ekaterinburg, Russia), is author more than 240 research publications, among them the books: Поэзия серебряного века, Поэтика символистского романа, Литература русской эмиграции “первой волны”. She edits two of the series of the journal “Уральский филологический вестник (Ural philological herald): “Русская литература XX–XXI вв.: направления и течения” (Russian literature of the 20th–21st centuries: directions and movements) and “Драфт: молодая наука” (Draft: young scholarship), as well as. She is a member of the editorial board of Филологический класс (Philological class) journal. Her research interests relate to Russian Literature of the late 19th–early 20th centuries, Russian émigré literature, and contemporary Russian poetry.
E-mail: n_barkovskaya@list.ru

Vadim Besprozvanny (PhD), is Lecturer at the School of Information, Michigan University (Ann Arbor). His main field of research interest is Russian literature of the first third of the 20th c.
Email: vbeprozz@umich.edu

Duccio Colombo (Bologna, 1965) graduated in 1993 at the University of Bologna and took his Ph.D in Comparative Slavic Literatures in 2000 at the University of Milan. He is author of Scrittori, in fabbrica: Una lettura del romanzo industriale sovietico (Writers, at the works! A reading of Soviet production novel, Pisa, 2008) and co-editor of L'anno 1910 in Russia (The year 1910 in Russia, Roma, 2012). He is currently Associate Professor of Russian at the University of Palermo.
E-mail: duccio.colombo@unipa.it

Lyudmila A. Danilova, Ph.D. Art historian. Moscow, Russia. Sphere of interests: Painters and composers of XX century.

Victor Dranitsyn , literary critic, a member of the Mandelstam Society.

Tatiana Kruglova is a doctor (DSc) of philosophy, professor at the Ural Institute of Humanities, Ural Federal University named after B. N. Yeltsin, Yekaterinburg. She is the author of publications devoted to aesthetics and poetics of socialist realism, to communicative processes in Soviet artistic communities, to cultural-anthropological projections of Soviet art, to artistic representations of processes of socialist modernization, and to problems of structure of the field of art under totalitarian condition, of continuity between Soviet and post-Soviet habituses as represented in art, culture and everyday life. E-mail: tkruglowa@mail.ru Vera Limonchenko, is a doctor of philosophical science and a professor at the Drohobych State Pedagogical University by Ivan Franko (Ukraine). She has published more than hundred articles, most of which deal with the history of Russian philosophy.

Irina Litvinova, candidate of philology, associate professor of common and comparison linguistics. Institute of philology, journalism and cross-cultural communication. Southern Federal University, Russia, Rostov-on-Don.

Yordan Lyutskanov (Sofia, 1977), PhD in Russian Literature (2006), is Assoc. Prof. at the Institute for Literature, Bulgarian Academy of Sciences. His research includes works on Russian literary modernism, intermediality, Russian émigré periodicals of Bulgaria, early Russian eurasianism, Bulgarian-Georgian literary contacts, comparative literature. E-mail: yljuckanov@gmail.com

Alexander Medvedev is Associate Professor of the Department of Russian Literature of the Tyumen State University (Tyumen', Russia). He holds a PhD degree (Candidate of Philological Sciences) from Moscow State University, 1997, for his dissertation entitled “Эссе В.В. Розанова о Ф.М. Достоевском и Л.Н. Толстом (Проблема понимания)” (V.V. Rozanov's essays on F.M. Dostoevsky and L.N. Tolstoy (The problem of understanding)). His research interests focus on Russian literature and religious-philosophical thought of the 19th and 20th centuries (V. Rozanov, F. Dostoevsky, A. Chekhov, M. Prishvin, A. and M. Tsvetaeva, and J. Brodsky) in the historical-cultural context of “big time”. E-mail: amedv1@yandex.ru Natalia M. Myroshnichenko, PhD, deputy director of the Museum-Reserve "Cimmeria M. A. Voloshin", the head of the House-museum of M.A. Voloshin, a member of ICOM. Koktebel, the Crimea.

Galina Petkova teaches 19th and 20th c. Russian literature at Sofia University St. Kliment of Ohrid. She is Assoc. Prof. at the Chair of Russian Literature, Faculty of Slavic Philologies (her habilitation work is devoted to Chrestomathies and History of Russian Literature by Pyotr Bicilli: “To provide a guiding thread...”: History of Russian Literature in Three Books by Professor P. Bicilli (Bulgaria, 1931–1934)”, Sofia: Fakel, 2017) and holds a PhD in Philology from Mikhail Lomonosov Moscow State University (“Поэтика лирического цикла в творчестве Марины Цветаевой”, 1994). She authored works about M. Tsvetaeva, Cherubina de Gabriak, N. Teffi, P. Bicilli, N. Trubetskoi, P. Yartsev, Ervin Grimm, and Russian émigré community in Bulgaria. E-mail: petkova@slav.uni-sofia.bg

Nina Petrovna Khryashcheva, DSc, is Professor at the Chair of Literature and Methods of Its Teaching, Urals State Pedagogical University, Yekaterinburg, and editor-in-chief of the journal Philologicheskii klass. Her main fields of scholarly interest are the oeuvre of Andrei Platonov, contemporary Russian prose, and methodology and methodics of analysis of literary texts. Her most important works include: «Кипящая вселенная» Андрея Платонова: динамика образотворчества и миропостижения в сочинениях 20-х годов, Yekaterinburg 1998; Теория литературы. История русского и зарубежного литературоведения, Москва, 2011; “Функция «чужих» текстов в «Чевенгуре» А. Платонова”, in: Кризис литературоцентризма. Утрата идентичности vs новые возможности, ed. by N. V. Kovtun, Moscow 2014, 346-369; “Поэтика тайнописи в пьесе А. Платонова «Ученик Лицея»”, Вопросы литературы, 2015, 6, 95-119 [in co-authorship with K. S. Kogut]; “Слово – вещь – предмет в поэтике Михаила Шишкина (Венерин волос)”, in: Знаковые имена современной русской литературы. Михаил Шишкин, ed. by Anna Skotnicka and Janusz Świeży, Krakow 2017, 187-202.
E-mail: ninaus.fk@yandex.ru

Irina Ostapenko, Doctor of Philology, professor of department of the Russian and foreign literature, Tavricheskaya academy, Crimean Federal university of V.I. Vernadsky, Simferopol.

Sergei M. Pinaev, Ph.D. Professor of Peoples' Friendship University of Russia. Sphere of interests: Poetry and Philosophy of the Silver Age.

Olga V. Shalygina — DSc in Philology, Senior Researcher, A.M. Gorky Institute of World Literature of the Russian Academy of Sciences, E-mail: shalygina@imli.ru, A.M. Gorky Institute of World Literature of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Povarskaya St., 25 a, 121069 Moscow, Russia.

Eleonora Georgievna Shestakova, DSc holder in two fields, Journalism and Theory of Literature, is a member of the Medialinguistic Commission (from Ukraine) under the International Committee of Slavists (under the auspices of UNESCO), cf. http://medialing.spbu.ru/medialingvistika_v_litsax/44-295.html.

Her fields of research interest are theory of art of wording, poetics and aesthetics of epochs of transition, theory of literary motive, the Silver Age of Russian culture (as literary scholar), and theory of mediatext, intellectual journalism, reality-show, media education, general issues of theory of social communication (as journalist). She authored more than 200 scholarly publications, among them two monographs, Теоретические аспекты соотношения текстов художественной литературы и массовой коммуникации: специфика эстетической реальности словесности Нового времени (Donetsk: NORD-PRESS, 2005. – 441 p.) and Оксюморон как категория поэтики (на материале русской поэзии XIX – первой трети XX веков) (Donetsk: Nord-Press, 2009. – 210 p.), and a teaching chrestomathy, Хрестоматія з теорії тексту масової комунікації (Donetsk: Nord-Press, 2009. – 283 p.)

E-mail: shestakova_eleonora@mail.ru; shestakovanora2016@gmail.com

Tatiana Sukhodub, Kiev (Ukraine), Ph.D., assistant professor, Center of arts education of National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine, assistant professor, research interests – history of Philosophy, types of philosophical rationality, the culture of philosophical thinking, philosophy as the problem of philosophy.

Liudmila Tabachenko, Ph. D. of philology, professor of common and comparison linguistics. Institute of philology, journalism and cross-cultural communication. Southern Federal University, Russia, Rostov-on-Don.

Vladimir Voznyak, is a doctor of philosophical science and a professor at the Drohobych State Pedagogical University by Ivan Franko (Ukraine). He has published more than two hundred articles, including about the history of Russian philosophy.

Sergei Zayats, Doctor of Philology, Professor of the Department of educational disciplines of the Transdnestrian State University of T.G. Shevchenko (Polytechnical Branch in Bendery). Three books about M.A. Voloshin: Myth and the Bible in the works of M. Voloshin – Sterlitamak, Russia, 2010; Mythopoetics of M. Voloshin in the context of his spiritual formation – Saarbrücken, Germany 2012; Myth-making, religious and philosophical search on the crossroads of the Silver Age – M., Flinta, 2016.